CLEVELAND, June 8.—A gunners' beat through the bottoms in the Minnesota river today in a hectic search for a crazed Karpis Barker and 12 other escaped inmates of the Peter State Asylum at Lawrence, De. Vol-bank robber and murderer, helped engineer the spectacular break last night. Slugging armed guards, 16 prisoners were freed.

Several others were released in another manifestation of the prison break. The commandeer automobile was driven by a prisoner named "Red" who was a participant in the robbery of the Northwestern National bank in Minneapolis in 1932. The holdup resulted in the death of three persons in the two policemen.

House Plans Strong Defense of Its Measure Against Mild Senate Proposal

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The revenue struggle reached a conference phase today as a few congressmen prepared to discuss a few pending matters and before a week during the Republican national convention at Chicago.

House planned little else to arrange the selection of the members who are expected to put a strong front to the senate and insist upon retention of income for high graduated rates against the undistributed profits of corporations.

Along other provisions the measure calls for a 7 per cent tax on undistributed profits compared with the house provision for a graduated tax up to 10 per cent.

With just a brief time in before his trip to Nashville, Tenn., for the funeral of the late Senator Byrns and the start of his speaking tour President Roosevelt remained close to his side, or veto and he also expected to devote some time to perches he will make at Pock Ark, Dallas, Tex., and other points during the trip.

LEAP FROM CAR
IN PATH OF TRAIN

Special to The Star
CANTON, O., June 8.—Four dead residents escaped possible death here Sunday at 3 p.
m. when they jumped from a passenger automobile a few seconds before it was demolished by a passing train at the Whetstone street crossing. The fatal crash occurred when a 1935 Buick sedan leapt from the highway and landed on the tracks just as the train was passing.

Borah Shuns Combination
To Block Landon Forces

Concerned Over What Would Happen to Him After Such a Drive Had Destroyed His Opponent.

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, O., June 8.—Sen.
William E. Borah told his own Idaho delegation today he would not go into any combination or movement to stop Landon or any other strong candidate.
Much has been said here about my joining in a movement to stop the leading candidate, Borah said
"but I do not feel that I want to go into any combination or movement to attempt to control the convention through any series of deals."

I defer to the members of the delegation as to what they desire to do but we have nothing to gain by doing so.
They are willing for me to be come the spearhead of a (stop) drive but they say nothing about what will happen to me after the opposition has been destroyed.
Borah talked with the Idaho delegation shortly after his arrival from Washington.
In concluding Borah warned
The Republican party is fighting for its life if we fail to nominate a candidate who has a distinct courageous aggressive intelligence stand upon these questions the election will be over when we leave this city.

Borah and Schorr
Split Definitely

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, O., June 8.—A definite break between National Committee Chairman Walter F. Brown and State Chairman Ed D. Schorr became evident in pre-convention circles today as three delegates pledged to Sen. William E. Borah were reliably reported to have aligned themselves with Brown to win former President Hoover's influence in a stop Landon movement.

Brown postmaster general in Hoover's cabinet is the former President's representative in the Ohio delegation.
The latest amateur strengthened Borah's prospects for reelection as national committeeman and cast doubt upon the selection of former Gov. Myers V. Cooper as a member of the convention resolutions committee which was agreed upon generally in the delegation previously.

Ohio supporters of Col. Frank Knox backed Brown against Frank F. Taggart of Massillon who is favored by Gov. Alf M. Landon's Ohio forces including Schorr.

The Borah delegates reported committed to Brown are Fred R.
Ormsby of Akron, Clyde W. Osborne of Youngstown and Frank Murphy of Steubenville.

The other Borah pledged delegates are Walter B. Wamaker of Akron and Joseph E. Cassidy of Cleveland.

The new alliance delegates included C. Ellis Moore of Cambridgeport of Cooper as a member of the platform committee.

Brown disclaimed knowledge of the Borah delegates' movement but at Borah headquarters it was said the Ohio delegates were free to use their own judgment in obtaining support for the Idaho candidate.

FEDERAL NURSE BEGINS
COUNTY HEALTH WORK

First Appointee in County Under Social Security Program
Takes Up Duties in Office of Dr. N. Siffritt.

The first addition to the county health department under the federal social security program was made today when Miss Lillian Rose of Caledonia began her duties as public health nurse.
A second addition will be made in August when Eugene B. Willey becomes county sanitarian. He is now taking a course in sanitary engineering at the University of Michigan at government expense.
While Miss Rose is the first new federal appointee, the salary of Miss Alma G. Denney, county tuberculosis nurse, has been paid by the government for some time.

BURGLAR TAKES TROUSERS
AND $150 FROM BEDROOM

Thwarted in Attempt To Use Keys Found in Pocket To Loot
Automobile Accessory Store

A thief took a pair of men's trousers containing $125 and a woman's purse with $20 when he entered the first floor bedroom at the home of Leroy Lane at 181 O ney avenue Saturday night. Keys belonging to Mr. Lane and contained in one of the trousers pockets were taken and thought to have been used later in an attempt to enter the Lane automobile accessory shop at 413 West Center street.

Members of the family were at home when the burglary occurred shortly after 11 o'clock. Police was made through an unlocked bedroom window while Mr. Lane was bathing and Mrs. Lane was in the kitchen. The bathroom immediately adjoins the bedroom while the kitchen is at the opposite side of the house.

The burglar took a porch chair from the next door residence of Mrs. Ida Orr and used it to reach the bedroom window. Police said Mr. Lane's trousers were taken from a chair near the window and the purse was taken from the top of a trunk in addition to the money, the purse contained a fountain pen and numerous papers.

When the police investigated they advised Lane to check his store and place a new lock on the door. The broken key was found in the original lock when he went to the store he reported to police several hours later. It is thought the burglars were prevented from entering the store when the key broke in the lock.

Plank in Boxcar
Hobo King's Idea
for G. O. P. Plank

By The Associated Press
CINCINNATI, O., June 8.—Jett Davis, king of hoboes, headed for Cleveland today. Intent he said upon one thing, that the Republican convention there includes a platform plank demanding that railroads permit hobo to ride in box cars for one cent a mile.
"No kidding," insisted Davis
why say—
"There are just thousands of hobo cars a spring back on switches and in the rail yards not doing anyone any good, least of all the railroads."

"Why couldn't they put a few benches in 'em install a tin tub or a make-shift shower in one end and put 'em on the road?"
The tin tub or a shower would be, he said, Davis opined, adding "A hobo has a certain amount of pride. He will work a tramp won't. And he knows he's more likely to get a job if he looks presentable."

Six hobo "delegates" to the Republican convention, named at the international convention of the order in Louisville in April, will be in Cleveland, Davis said. "as observers—to use their influence."
Six more are going to the Democratic convention in Philadelphia.

PASSING OF BOGUS CHECKS REPORTED

Warning Issued to Marion Merchants; One Already Cashed Here.

A general warning to Marion merchants about cashing purported checks of the Beatrice Creamery Co. of Chicago was issued today by W. D. Brown, secretary of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, after a Marion business place had cashed one of the questionable checks, drawn for $9.50.

The warning was based on the cashing of the check in Marion and a letter sent by the creamery company telling that fraudulent checks purporting to be from the company have been circulated widely.

The checks are printed on yellow paper. They are printed "payable through the First National bank" and immediately below that the name of a city has been placed on the checks with a rubber stamp. The words, "Columbus, Ohio," were stamped under the bank's name on the check cashed in Marion. The check was made payable to F. Nelson and indorsed with that name. It carried the signature, "J. A. Hansen" as operator of the company.

VETERANS WILL RECEIVE BONUS BONDS AT NIGHT

Mail Carriers Will Make Deliveries to Homes Between 6 and 10 P. M. on Evening of June 15.

The job of delivering and handing World War bonus bonds in Marion will be done at night, it was announced here today.

Veterans who are to receive the bonds are requested to remain at home Monday night, June 15, the time set for delivery of the valuable packets. Mail carriers will make special trips at that time over their regular routes delivering nothing but bonds. Those veterans who do not receive them on the night of June 15 will receive them the following Tuesday of Wednesday nights. The carriers will make their deliveries between 6 and 10 p. m.

Postmaster L. L. Lamborn stressed today the requirement of positive identification before the bonds will be handed over to the veterans. If the veteran to whom the bond is addressed is not available with his mail carrier, he must have another member of the family, a neighbor or a friend at his home that night who does know the carrier. Under no circumstances will the bonds be turned over to any one other than the addressee, Mr. Lamborn said. The addressee will be required to sign a receipt when the bonds are given to him.

Details of how the postoffice authorities will handle the bonds to insure speedy payment also were announced today by Mr. Lamborn. The postoffice and a special room at the Y. M. C. A. will be open between 6 and 10 p. m. beginning the night of June 16 for the service of veterans who wish to cash their bonds. There will be 30 clerks on duty to handle this work. In addition to the clerks, 30 veterans, most of whom will be members of veterans' organizations here and who are well known throughout the city and county will be on hand to help identify those cashing the bonds. Certifying officers, or clerks, will be held responsible for positive identification of the person requesting payment as the one whose name appears on the face of the bond. If the veteran is known personally to the postmaster or clerk witnesses are not necessary. If he is not known at the postoffice or to those on duty at the Y. M. C. A. witnesses who know the veteran and who are known by the clerks must sign the bond in the presence of the certifying officer. The 30 veterans who will be present to help in the identification are being organized by D. J. Finley at the request of Postmaster Lamborn.

Mr. Finley pointed out that veterans must not go to the postoffice in the daytime to cash their bonds—that this service will be definitely confined to the hours between 6 and 10 p. m. It was the original intention of postal authorities to handle bonds through out the day, but it is felt that the rush would interfere with the regular postal business.

When the veteran turns his bonds over to the postal clerk he will receive an interim receipt and his check will be mailed to him in the immediate future. The bonds are sent by the postoffice here to the regional disbursing office of the U. S. treasury department in Cleveland and checks are mailed from there to the veterans immediately. Postmaster Lamborn estimates it will take three nights to handle all bonds in Marion.

In Marion county about 1,500 veterans will divide approximately $750,000. Further details of the payment of the bonus here will be announced later this week, and the names of the 30 veterans who will be on duty for identification purposes will be published next Saturday.

MRS. SUSAN MILLER CLAIMED BY DEATH
Special to the Star—MT. GILEAD, O., June 2—Mrs. Susan Burnett Miller, 76, mother of Roy Miller who was Morrow county auditor for 12 years, died yesterday at her home in Mt. Gilead after a three years' illness. She was born in North Bloomfield township and was a resident of the county all her life. She had lived in Mt. Gilead for the last 12 years. Surviving are three sons, Roy of Mt. Gilead, Ralph of Hayden Lake, Idaho, and Harley of Mansfield, and a foster-daughter, Mrs. Iza McWilliams of Mt. Gilead. The husband, Asa Miller, died last February. The funeral will be conducted Tuesday at 1 p. m. at the home and at 2 p. m. at the Johnsville U. B. church. Burial will be made in the Johnsville cemetery.

CARS LEAP RAILS
KENTON, O., June 2—Two empty coal cars, a southbound Big Four freight train left the tracks here Saturday, shut off motor traffic at the U. S. Route 68 and State Route 31 crossing for more than two hours, and delayed railroad traffic for as long a period. The train had stopped for water and was starting up at the time of the accident. A few feet of track were torn up.

SCOUTS TO ASSEMBLE
KENTON, O., June 2—Kenneth A. Connolly of Lima, Shawnee area scout executive, will be in charge of the first Hardin county "camporee" at Camp Simon Kenton on Lake Talawanda, Friday. Members of every troop in the county will register at 4 p. m. and will break camp at 9:30 p. m. the following day.

To encourage cotton production in Argentina the Bank of the Nation will make loans to planters covering the complete cycle of production and marketing.

ERIE SHOP CREW HAS GOOD RECORD

No Serious Accident in Six Years; Picture in Magazine

A feather in the cap of the first truck boiler repair gang at the Erie railroad roundhouse is a safety record of six years without a serious accident. The record places the gang in the front ranks for a clear record, and while not exactly knocking on wood, the more than 20 workmen are taking every precaution to keep the slate clean. A picture of the men taken when they rounded out their fifth year safety record is carried in the June issue of the Erie Railroad Magazine.

All have service records ranging from 10 to 25 years. S. E. Shar-rock of Franklin street, for has been with the railroad 25 years, and prior to coming to Erie, was with the New York Central Lines at Bucyrus for 11 years. Mr. Sharrock is a member of the gang who the picture, was retired in of this year with a record of more than 30 years of service.

Plans have been made to send Sharrock to the Netherlands for electrical work, nearly 300 kilometers of track.

DEATH TAKES JOHN C. HARVEY

Funeral Services for Retired Farmer, Stock Raiser, Set for Wednesday.

John C. Harvey, 80, retired Marion county farmer, died yesterday at 5:40 p. m. at his home at 207 South Vine street following a year's illness. He recently underwent treatment at the City hospital.

Mr. Harvey moved to Marion from the homestead farm two miles north of Marion on the Bucyrus road 37 years ago and made his home with his brother, the late D. H. Harvey. After his brother's death continued to live at the home of his sister-in-law and his nephew and niece, Dr. and Mrs. T. E. Sonnanstine of the South Vine street address.

The Harvey family was for many years among the leading livestock raisers in the county. Mr. Harvey was born in Marion township on May 10, 1858, to David Henderson Harvey, a native of Pennsylvania and Celesta Everett Harvey. He never married.

Surviving are the relatives with whom he made his home, and one sister, Mrs. Josephine Monnette of 745 East Center street.

Mr. Harvey was a member of Marion Lodge No. 32 B. P. O. Elks. The funeral will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the C. E. Curtle Co. funeral home on East Center street by Rev. Franklin E. Markley of the Epworth M. E. church. Burial will be made in the Marion cemetery. Friends may view the body at the funeral home.

ICKES CLAIM HEARST RUNS PARLEY DENIED

WASHINGTON, June 8.—A new dealer's charge, and a quick denial, that William Randolph Hearst would be the "absentee boss" of the Republican national convention, echoed today across the fast-moving political scene.

Secretary Ickes, in an address broadcast last night as the convention delegates converged upon Cleveland, declared that the Republicans' standard bearer had been picked in advance by "substantially the same interests" that supported Warren G. Harding for the presidential nomination.

An authorized statement of the publisher's position quickly denoted Ickes' "whole broadcast" as "rather absurd" and said "the remarks about Mr. Hearst are particularly absurd."

Jokes said the views of William Allen White, Clifford Pinchot and Frank Lowden would be disregarded, and that "as the discoverer and principal backer of Gov. London, there is reason to believe that Publisher Hearst will do the final editing of the platform draft."

"All that the convention will be expected or permitted to do," he said, "will be to sign, as usual, on the dotted line."

DEATH COMES TO SULTAN OF SULU

MANILA, June 8.—The death of the Sultan of Sulu, titular head of Mohammedans of the Sulu archipelago, Sunday night on the island of Jolo.

The once powerful sultan, Jamalul Kiram, widely known in the United States, abdicated his political and civil rights in 1915.

James R. Fugate, American governor of Mindanao, recommended that the sultan's successor, when named by Moro chieftains, be recognized by the government.

The bureau of non-Christian tribes said, however, that the sultan's successor will not be recognized, since it was believed that the sultan's death will mean complete amalgamation of the Moros with the Filipinos.

MISSING GIRL FEARED AVOIDING PARENTS

PEKIN, Ill., June 8.—Baffled by the failure of a mass search to uncover clues to the disappearance of comely Dorothy Blumenstine, officials studied today the theory that she fled eight days ago to avoid parental reprimand.

Sheriff Ralph Gorr of Tazewell county turned to State Attorney Nathaniel Bliff for counsel on further plans after a posse of more than 500 persons combed a wide area.

Five youths and a young girl friend told investigators 14-year-old Dorothy became ill from liquor the party drank on the way home from a dance at Mackinaw on the night of May 30. They said they revived her and left her at her Washington, Ill., home early the following morning.

BRITISH AGAIN SAY THEY CANNOT PAY

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Great Britain defaulted today on its semi-annual war debt installment to the United States.

In doing so it advised this government that inability to pay was due to reasons "no less valid now" than when it first suspended all payments in 1934.

CAROLINA RUN-OFF CONTEST NECESSARY

CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 8.—A run-off contest for governor was indicated today between the veteran party stalwart, Clyde Hoey, who once turned down a senatorship, and Dr. Randy McDonald, youthful anti-sales tax candidate.

and some of you we will rarely see again.

"Your spiritual life and all that it holds for you will make you leaders of men and women of a future in life. At all times in the history of mankind we have needed leaders, and perhaps no more so than in this our present generation."

He spoke of St. Francis of Assisi and Ignatius as the men raised by God for leadership in time when leaders were needed, and said:

"Would that we had such leaders today, would that God would raise some single man to give back the real values of all that life means."

"Perhaps there may be a leader of men in these young men and women whom we are sending out today. Perhaps they may be destined by God to give back the real spiritual life to mankind with whom he or she associates."

Three Things Essential

Spanking of the trend today by the professedly Christian that people do not need God and that he need not have a place in the moral life of human souls. Father Summa said:

"We know, however, that if there is to be a straight and honest thinking and moral conduct three things are essential."

These he outlined as "A definite code of objective morality; a definite authority back of this objective morality; definite sanctions to the moral law."

"You and all of us know that there is a very definite objective moral code given us in the Ten Commandments, wherein we find the foundations of all moral conduct," he said.

"We know that there is a definite authority back of all truth and morality and that definite authority is none other than our Holy Mother Church," he continued, "She has guided and guarded us in those days when we needed her most."

"Lastly, we know that there is a definite sanction of all moral conduct, a sanction of happiness eternal and everlasting or of damnation of ruin. This of course finds no place in the modern conception of individualism which tries to shirk all responsibility and makes the moral code only that which is convenient and easy to perform."

God Demands Fidelity

The justice of God demands fidelity and that same justice will reward or punish according to the way a person has lived or fulfilled God's divine law, he said.

After speaking of the high ideals of the church and of the Catholic education, Father Summa said in closing: "Let us hope that these high ideals will sink deeply into the conduct of your lives. You are leaving our school, never to return for any more academic training. You look back over the past and to your cherished sacred and holy memories, remembrances of your companions and friends, memories of that holy atmosphere in which you have lived, remembrances of those who sacrificed their lives for your good and future. I ask you then to keep, to love and to cherish these sacred and holy memories. This in brief is our wish for you for the future."

Proceeding the seniors in the procession were the boys and girls of the high school, the girls in blue skirts, white blouses and white hats. The senior girls were in white caps and gowns and the boys in gray.

The hymns for benediction, "Ave Verum," by Gullmont, and "Tantum Ergo," by Verduessen, were sung by the high school. The services closed with the singing of "The National Anthem" by Epiphany Placentino, organist.

Fanny Placentino, organist, played the processional march by Stoughton and the recessional by Gounod, and played the music for the service.

Father Spickerman was the celebrant of solemn benediction. Rev. Father Lawrence B. Mollmann of Marysville was the deacon and Father Summa was the sub-deacon.

The graduates received their diplomas from Father Spickerman as they marched in a double column into the sanctuary. Ribbons of green and gold, the class colors, tied the diplomas.

After the service a reception for the seniors was held on the school lawn, which was decorated with baskets of garden flowers. A number of the senior girls received flowers from relatives and friends.

Sunday morning the seniors, faculty and priests were guests of the juniors at a breakfast served at the school following high mass Tuesday night at 8 the St. Mary

ALLEN G. SPRANKLE CLAIMED BY DEATH

Former Newspaperman and North Robinson Mayor Dies.

Special to The Star. BUCYRUS, O., June 8.—Allen G. Sprankle, 88, one time well known in Ohio newspaper circles and a former mayor of North Robinson, died last night at 8:40 at his home in North Robinson. He had been in failing health for the last two years.

Mr. Sprankle was editor and publisher of the Crestline, O., Advocate from 1895 to 1905, and he once was associate editor of the Newark, O., Advocate.

A native of Shiversville, Tuscarawas county, he was postmaster at Millersburg for several years and served several terms as mayor of North Robinson.

He was born June 1, 1848, to Jacob and Harriet Kasey Sprankle, who at one time lived in Crawford county.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Virginia Klippel of Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs. Harriet Cummings of Gallon. The wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Newton Sprankle, died in 1904.

Mr. Sprankle was a member of the First English Lutheran church in North Robinson, where the funeral will be conducted Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. following a service at 2 a. m. at the home. Burial will be made in the Oakwood cemetery.

VICTORY BY UNION BRINGS NEW STRIKE

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, June 8.—Coal miners in northern France numbering 150,000 called a general strike today a few hours after 1,000,000 workers had won a complete victory in the "folded arms" refusal to work.

Workers in Paris building trades also began a walkout to enforce the five-point agreement which ended the 14-day strike after Premier Leon Blum's "new deal" government interceded for organized labor.

The coal miners, who declared they would rather "starve and starve than work and starve," occupied pits and offices in the northern fields. In some places mining officials were held prisoner in their buildings but leaders of the miners union quickly ordered their release.

NEW SEA MONSTER PUZZLES SCIENTISTS

By The Associated Press.

ABERDEEN, Wash., June 8.—The remains of a 12-foot sea monster with a goat-like head baffled scientists here today.

D. W. Black, Ballinore zoologist, who examined the 1,300 pound body, said he never had seen such an animal in his 18 years of research. The nose-less creature, he said, bore some resemblance to reconstructed skeletons of prehistoric animals.

It had a body tapered like a buffalo's; a four-foot tail similar to a muskrat's, and a heavy, oily skin. Its 14 ribs, each about an inch and a half wide, were four inches apart.

The creature was found on an ocean beach near here.

TERRORIST CITES COLUMBUS HOOKUP

By The Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., June 8.—F. Lupp Sr., admitted "chief recruiting officer" for the Black legion, disclosed last night that among letters he had received since a recent inquiry into the legion's activities was one from a would-be organizer in Columbus, O. He said the correspondent, whose name he did not mention, wrote: "We are interested in organizing this section for your organization."

SHOOTING OF OHIO BOY INVESTIGATED

By The Associated Press.

CHILLICOTHE, O., June 8.—Prosecutor Lester S. Reid said today he should question William Poe, 54, concerning the shooting of Dewey Sherrick Zimmerman, 11, of nearby Blacksburg hill.

The boy was in a serious condition in a Chillicothe hospital. He was shot in the hip Sunday morning while crossing a field with his step brother, Clyde Sherrick, 13, and Poe.

FEDERAL NURSE ON COUNTY JOB TODAY

don't. She was graduated from Caledonia High school in the class of 1928 and from Grant hospital in Columbus in 1932. She was associated with the Maple Knoll hospital in Cincinnati three years before entering the government service under the social security program.

Miss Rose, Miss Denney and Mr. Wiley are the three persons assigned to the county health staff under the government program. All will be under the supervision of Dr. N. Siffritt, county health commissioner.

The only requirement set by the federal government is that every member of the department meet government qualifications for health work. Dr. Siffritt said. No additions other than those announced are contemplated at the present time, he said.

Dr. Siffritt pointed out the federal appointments are permanent. The county health department budget of approximately $7,000 will not be increased, he added.

The federal appointees will work only in the rural districts and not in Marion city. The city has been given the opportunity to participate in the public health division of the social security program but indications are the offer will be turned down. The state health department, which is administering the program in Ohio, has suggested that the city and county health departments be combined and jointly participate in the social security plan.

The suggestion and offer of government help was made some time ago, while the city health board did not formally vote it down, expressions of opinion against the plan by the majority of the members and vigorous opposition by Mayor F. C. Smith sidetracked the proposal.

Acceptance of the government's offer has been twice advocated in meetings of the health board by Dr. S. W. Mattox, a member of the board. A discussion of the matter took place at the board meeting last week, but Mayor Smith and members again opposed it. Dr. Mattox said the city would not increase its health budget and that the city pathologist would be paid a salary of $3,000 a year by the government, that one or two health nurses would be paid good salaries by the government, that 50 per cent of the health commissioner's salary would be paid, and that the government also would pay 50 per cent of the salary of Dr. J. T. Gruber, city milk and food inspector.

ACCIDENTS ARE FATAL TO EIGHT IN STATE

By The Associated Press.

At least five persons lost their lives in Ohio traffic accidents yesterday and three others drowned. Mrs. Mattie Hafner, 37, was killed at Hamilton when the car in which she was riding was struck from behind while turning into a filling station. Her husband, John, 38, was seriously injured.

Two Clevelanders were killed in traffic accidents. Hit-skip drivers struck and killed Andrew Sliker, 43, and Ralph Shannon, 73, in separate accidents. Henry Matson, 27, of Brooklyn village, Cleveland suburb, was fatally injured when his automobile struck a pole.

Paul Fear, 18, of Vandellia, near Troy, was fatally injured in the collision of two automobiles on the Dixie highway near Brookville.

George Alexander, 13, drowned in Locust lake, east of Cincinnati. Capt. Daniel Kummer of the city life squad said the boy had been permitted to go to the resort with the understanding that he would not swim.

At Portsmouth, Mrs. Viola Allen, 13, fell into Brush creek when she lost her grip on a rope swing, attached to a tree overhanging the creek.

Frank Allen, 22, her brother, jumped in to rescue her. Both drowned.

DRIVER IS FINED, SENTENCED TO JAIL

H. E. Price, 35, of 275 South Main street, was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated Saturday at 11:55 p. m. on West Center street near the Union depot by state highway patrolmen from the Marion sub-station. He was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to 10 days in jail and his driving rights were revoked for six months when he pleaded guilty to the charge in municipal court this morning.

CHURCH OPENS ANNIVERSARY

St. Paul's Lutheran Congregation To Observe Its Centennial.

Centennial celebrations at St. Paul's Lutheran church southeast of Marion in Richland township, opened yesterday with a day of services which were climaxed last night with a sermon by Dr. E. M. Poppen of Columbus, president of the Ohio district of the American Lutheran church. Dr. Poppen spoke on "The Story of the Century," based on the 100th Psalm.

Baskets of peonies decorated the church, the oldest Lutheran church in Marion county, and in the vestry were an interesting collection of pictures of confirmation classes, pioneer pastors and residents, and old families of the community. A scroll with the centennial theme, "God with us a century—a hundred years with God," decorated the altar.

Features of the day's services were the memorial services and prayer hours dedicated to the late Rev. H. H. Schaefer of Gallon, a former pastor, conducted the memorial service at the church's first cemetery, and Rev. J. Albrecht of Gallon gave the dedicatory address at the dedication of the parish house on the Richland road. At the dedication service the church and congregation received the felicitations of Rev. C. Schmidt of Bucyrus, president of the Marion local conference, Rev. James W. Schliffinger of the Emmanuel church of Marion, Rev. Edward Goedeckling of Marysville and Robert Graetz Jr. of Bucyrus, son of a former pastor.

Rev. S. H. Mollenauer of near Richwood, a former pastor, spoke at the Sunday school hour on "The Use of the Sunday School in Building the Church." At the jubilee service at 10:30 a. m., at which the lecture was consecrated, and there was a rededication prayer. Rev. Ph. Diekmann of Dundee, Mich., a former pastor, delivered a sermon on the text, "Hold Thou that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown." Approximately 300 persons attended the morning service and more than that number were present in the afternoon. About 200 persons heard Dr. Poppen at night. Mrs. R. Hough played the organ music for the services held at the church.

Rev. F. M. Kooplin, pastor, today urged that all persons confirmed at St. Paul's church join in the reunion of the confirmed on Tuesday night, and that everyone who attends register. Rev. Schliffinger of Marion will speak.

WILLIAM R. WISE DIES AT BUCYRUS

Was Member of One of City's Oldest Business Firms.

Special to The Star. BUCYRUS, O., June 8.—William R. Wise, 76, member of William Wise & Son furniture and undertaking firm, one of the oldest in Bucyrus, died last night at his home after a two weeks' illness of heart trouble.

Mr. Wise joined his father in business in 1877 following his graduation from the Bucyrus High school and the firm became known as William Wise & Son. The name was not changed after the death of the elder Mr. Wise.

Mr. Wise was a member of the First Presbyterian church, the Fifty Year club of Bucyrus men who have been members of the same firm for 50 years or more, the Elks, Moose and Eagles lodges and the Ben Hur society.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Della May Lauck Wise, two daughters, Virginia at home and Mrs. M. Myers of Cleveland, and two brothers, Fred A. Wise and Joseph B. Wise, both associated in the furniture and undertaking firm, and one sister, Mrs. Bessie Hodges of Cleveland. Mr. Wise was born in Bucyrus on Sept. 8, 1859.

The funeral will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Wise funeral home. Burial will be made in the Oakwood cemetery.

SOUTH CHINESE MAY FIGHT JAPAN ALONE

By The Associated Press.

Gen. Li Chung-Jen, commander-in-chief of the Kwangsi provincial army, said today south China is determined to fight Japanese forces in north China, regardless of whether the central (Nanking) government assents.

Fifteen central government warships were reported to have arrived at Amoy, Fukien province. Embassies of Canton and Nanking negotiated for a coalition to unite China for defense. Observers awaited with interest the action to be taken by Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, leader of the Nanking government.

Gen. Li, commander-in-chief of Kwangsi forces, urged officers and men throughout the republic to "shed blood freely for the cause of anti-Japanese national salvation."

RAINFALL OF 1.03 INCHES RECORDED

Rainfall measuring 1.03 inches fell in Marion Saturday and Sunday to bring relief from two of the hottest days of the year.

Saturday the temperature rose to 80 degrees, two points under that recorded one day last month, which Dr. E. H. Rattensperger said was the highest of the year. The mercury dropped to 54 degrees Saturday night as rain brought welcome relief from the heat. Sunday's high was 87 and low 58. Dr. Rattensperger reported. A year ago yesterday a high of 89 and low of 40 were recorded.

Cooler tonight and cloudy and warmer Tuesday is the prediction of the U. S. Weather bureau.

ACTRESS SILENT ABOUT SETTLEMENT

By The Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—Mary Miles Minter and her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, silent today on reports of an out-of-court settlement of their $750,000 suit against a brokerage concern, referred inquiries to their attorney—reported absent on an indefinite vacation.

Norman Sterry, attorney for the defendant firm, tacitly admitted a settlement was reached but said he had not been advised whether an agreement had been signed. Published reports said the actress and her mother were to be paid between $100,000 and $125,000.

CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS

By The Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, June 8.—The up-swing article who wrote today's main concern is to produce a new one—the "GOP Sunday." The ingredients: ground nuts, orange syrup, pineapple juice and ice cream.

The Constitution is Mrs. Alice Longworth's traveling companion. She carries a copy of it around in her purse, and if a constitutional question comes up, she draws it out and reads from it to settle the argument.

U. S. Guyer is a representative from Kansas, but as he moved through a hotel lobby he was called "Senator." "Mr. Congressman" and "Judge." All within 10 minutes.

"Tidies" Joe Tolbert of South Carolina, who hasn't worn a tie since he was big enough to make up his own mind, sauntered through the carpeted hotels. "Poor man," sighed a grey-haired woman, "he's lost his tie and doesn't seem to know it."

Henry L. Mencken's definition of a delegate to a national convention: "A delegate is an obscure man who is lucky if his home town paper prints his name once. He comes up here and votes as he's told by the man who owns him."

Frank Ransbort of Zanesville, O., sports perhaps the latest cane at the convention. The Taft-pledged delegate has a stick that was hand carved in Mexico and acquired by Ransbort on a recent trip. Several kinds of wood were used to produce the flashy adornment.

Former U. S. Sen. Roscoe C. McCullough of Canton, unsuccessful Borah-pledged candidate for delegate to the convention, and Sam Stephenson of Columbus, a Borah supporter, ignored convention hotels together. Stephenson insisted Longworth was definitely "stopped," and said it would be Borah for President and Sen. Daniel O. Hastings of Delaware for vice president.

WPA COMMITTEE MEETING TONIGHT

A committee of 27 citizens named by R. T. Lewis, president of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, to study possible methods of raising funds to help finance WPA projects, will hold its first meeting tonight at the Chamber of Commerce office.

The group, headed by A. W. Kette as temporary chairman, is expected to organize and discuss the problem of providing enough local funds to keep WPA projects going in Marion county.

"I'm feeling... better," he smiled. "Why not?" Dirk asked gently. "I could sleep. I haven't slept... real sleep... since it happened. I feel sleepy now, and easy. Stay here, will you... till I go to sleep."

"I'll stay," said Dirk. The house was dark when he came from the room at last. Mrs. Turner's door stood open. She said, when Dirk had told her: "He lasted longer than the doctor said he would. The doctor said he'd be gone by midnight."

It was well after midnight when Dirk, lifting his hand from Roddie's, had gone to the telephone downstairs and talked with Miss Andrews. She was to tell Mrs. Joris that everything was all right, that he would be home soon. He had returned to the room then, had sat awhile longer. He wanted to be sure that Roddie was asleep. "Did he tell you who did it?" Mrs. Turner was agitated and curious. Her face looked bloated, as if she had had a few moments' nervous sleep.

"No," said Dirk. "He only wanted me to look after his things. His money and his clothes. And to pay the doctor."

"Well... I wondered about that. And who's to claim him?" She was following Dirk down the hall. Dirk reassured her. "I'm to look after everything," he said.

Hope took the news stolidly. He saw the light burning in her room and went in.

"He was going home," she repeated softly. "He told you he was going back home."

"No, I'll write. A letter's better. I'll write today."

"And Roddie... Do you want him to go... home?"

"He was going back," she said, "because he needed to. But now..." She looked up at Dirk. "Is there room for him here?"

The question touched him. He thought how large was that place where Rupert lay, and in the spring how green and filled with flowers.

"There's room," he said. And she, "You are tired. You must go to bed."

The dawn was whitening over a white world. They parted silently. Neither knew that it was Christmas Eve.

Hope was showing Dirk the contents of the metal box. They had had dinner together in the little boudoir off the south room. Old Timothy had placed the table in the circle of the bay-window with its cushioned window-seat. They had watched the moon come up silver-white over the white snow. "We lived on the ranch at first," Hope said. "The Guadalupe Ranch, because it's in the Guadalupe mountains, this side of the Rio Grande. Here they are, the mountains. El Paso's a little to the west of you. Roddie and I were born on the ranch."

We loved it. Life was wonderful there. But Mother never got used to it, never liked it. "Shed met Father one winter in El Paso. He was a cowboy. He must have been fine-looking. I haven't any picture of him then, but Mother says that he was. "After Father became a preacher, you smile at that, but it wasn't such a far cry for him. He had always wanted to preach and after one brother had gone to congress, and another became a district attorney, he made up his mind. "He used to study at night, with Mother helping him. And after awhile they went away together, leaving Roddie and me at the ranch. When they came back we moved into El Paso, and father had his own church. People love him. He's a good preacher. But strict in his own family, that is, strict with Roddie and me. "I was something of an opportunist. I did what he said. Sometimes I only pretended to do it, and it served just as well. But Roddie couldn't do either. Roddie was a rebel. "We don't look alike, do we?" She showed Dirk a little picture of her and Roddie as children. Black head, yellow hair. "I was the oldest... the oldest twin. The strongest I didn't want to be. I hated for people to say, 'Your little brother.' I was glad when old Pablo began to teach us to ride, when Roddie began to get stranger and stronger. Pretty soon he was as brown as old Pablo, and grew and grew. He could ride anything. "And then Pablo got Bowle for us. Bowle was the horse you saw ride in Merritt's... the black horse. He was a Spanish pony, a blue blood. He was just a little colt when Pablo got him in a trade. He grew up with us. He knew everything... understood every move we made to split second. "But of course we had to go to school. We had to learn things. Mother had taught us, whenever she could catch us. Bowle and Pablo taught us considerably often. Father hadn't begun to take a hand. "Roddie hated leaving the ranch. Hated it as badly as Bowle did. I didn't mind so much, so long as I had Roddie. I never loved my father or my mother as I loved Roddie, right from the start. I was always robbing him, though. I never meant to. But things were given to me, things were done for me, and not for Roddie. "My mother's sister, for instance. She sent me to school in Washington. When I went away to school it was the first time I had left Roddie and Bowle. "Four years, and I saw them only in the summer when I went home. Each time I saw that things were different. Roddie wasn't home much, he wouldn't study, and he was going with a bad crowd. And then pretty soon he didn't write to me at all. That was last spring, just before I went home for good. "Roddie wasn't there. Roddie had had a last quarrel with father, and had gone, no one knew where. I could see that Roddie had been terrible, drinking and gambling, and disgracing us generally. "I felt I had to find him, and bring him back. Father said no. Father had said some pretty hard things to Roddie. But mother said I should go. She reminded father of how Roddie had always listened to me, said that if anybody could make him see the light it would be Lasca. Friends had seen him, by now. We knew he was somewhere along the border. "In the end they gave me money to go—money they had saved—and made me promise that when I found him I would come back quickly, either with Roddie or alone. Mother was crying when I left. "I went on Bowle because I wanted to save the money. I knew wherever Roddie was, he needed it. This was no time to look for work. "I found him, too, over in Mexico, in a little town on the river.

That was the first time I saw Roddie. He had been selling liquor into Texas. Repeat had come, and he wasn't doing so well. I hated Roddie for what he had done to Roddie."

Hope continues, tomorrow, her dramatic story.

Pains in Back.

"Please tell me the cause of what is usually termed 'lumbago,' or sudden attack of pain affecting the lower back and hips, which departs almost as suddenly after several weeks of discomfort. What causes this condition?"

It is unscientific to call every case of backache 'lumbago.' I am glad to say that the use of this expression is gradually disappearing. It was formerly applied to all pains in the back.

This question I have been asked is typical of many received in my mail. I am glad to answer it because there is no greater joy than to help somebody to gain health.

Backache is a universal complaint. The number of sufferers from this ailment is amazingly great.

It is difficult to give a direct answer to the question. The underlying cause of backache may be one of many possible conditions. Indeed, it can hardly be called a disease; it is a symptom or sign of a disease.

Backache, for example, may be the result of arthritis or inflammation of the joints of the back or hip. It may be due to faulty posture, injury or strain. At times, the pain is 'referred' from some disturbance of an internal organ, such as the kidney, liver, gall bladder, urinary bladder, or prostate. In females it is often due to some disorder of the womb or ovaries.

It may be the result of some irritation of the muscles of the back, perhaps from a 'rheumatic' condition. In that event it is aggravated with each movement of the inflamed muscles.

Sciatic or inflammation of the sciatic nerve is an ailment that produces backache. The sufferer complains of a pain in the back, a pain that travels along the course of the sciatic nerve and into the back of the thigh and leg. At times this is so severe and disabling as to confine the patient to bed for several days.

From what I have said, you will see that every case of backache requires careful investigation. Do not resort to medication until after consulting with your doctor. What you might call lumbago may be a danger signal, indicating the possibility of kidney stone, or infection of the kidney, liver, gall bladder, or other vital structure. It may be necessary to resort to special examination, with tests of the blood and urine, is necessary before accurate treatment can be expected. This is the only way that permanent relief can be expected.

The Stars Say--
For Tuesday, June 9

A very lively and eventful day is forecast from the predominant planetary configurations. This applies particularly to the social or domestic life, in which there may be several lively and pleasant functions. Otherwise there may be some upsetting or disintegrating situations of a sudden nature. These should be met with composure and sagacity rather than excitement, tumult and impetuosity. They might have unhappy reactions on the felicitous course of events. Make changes and meet strangers with wariness.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very lively and pleasant year, with much felicity and excitement in the social, domestic or romantic affections. There are, however, omens of a sudden visitation of a disturbing nature, which should be handled with calm and precaution and not with storm and tempest. Be wise with strangers and make needful changes with forethought and composure, not impulsively and recklessly.

A child born on this day may be socially and intellectually inclined, but restless and changeable.

time to talk about it now. If I am not mistaken, here comes your car."

A car rolled down the ramp and came to a halt just outside the office door. Mr. Brixton looked at it and nodded.

"Yes, it is mine," he said, "and I am so glad to accept your offer. I don't think I'm fit to drive. I have been afraid that I would have an accident before I reached New Haven. Yet I intended to go there anyway."

"I almost missed things by saying, 'I know,' but caught the words back just in time. Not for anything would I have betrayed the knowledge given me by Miss Marshall. Luckily, Mr. Brixton's attention had been attracted by the garage man, so he noticed nothing. By the time he finished paying the man, I was ready with a suggestion which I felt must be made.

"Do you mind going in our car?" I said. "If I am going to drive and talk, too, as I must do if I tell you what is in my mind, I do not want an unfamiliar car under my hands. Dicky will drive yours out without any trouble. I am sure."

Ready to Start

"I know he will," Mr. Brixton responded, "and I shall be very glad to go in your car."

"Then will you please give this man the necessary directions, so that Dicky can pick up your car in the next five minutes, and then come with me to where mine is parked?"

He turned to the garage man and spoke briefly and to the point. Then he walked with me out of the garage, and down the street in where Dicky stood beside our parked car.

The two men greeted each other while I spoke swiftly, uneasy for fear Dicky would veto the proposed arrangement because of possible danger from Samuel Brixton's desperate state of mind.

"Dicky," I said, "if you will drive Mr. Brixton's car to New Haven, I will drive him in mine. Then I can talk more easily than I could if I were driving an unfamiliar car. Mr. Brixton is glad to have someone else take the wheel."

Ohio Oddities
BY R. C. HALL

Most histories of Ohio state that there have been three capital cities—Chillicothe, Zanesville and Columbus. This is true if we confine consideration strictly to the state but if we include the territorial government, there were two others.

The first settlers at Marietta established a provisional government there and then St. Clair was later installed in the governorship there as Marietta is entitled to be called the "first capital of Ohio." Gov. St. Clair soon transferred the seat of government to Cincinnati, which consequently became the "second capital of Ohio." This of course refers to territorial Ohio which was part of the northwest territory.

It Should Be Adequate.

President Roosevelt has put his signature on an official document authorizing the United States to meet a bill for $228,516,532. It is the navy supply act which thus goes into effect.

Calling for an increase in enlisted strength from the present 85,500 to 160,000, the act also provides for 323 new planes, 12 destroyers and six submarines. It enlarges the size and facilities of the marine corps and authorizes construction of two new battleships in the event any treaty power starts to build ships of that classification.

This naval appropriation combined with the army act calling for expenditure of $527,449,844 gives the country the largest peacetime armament budget in history. A total of $1,055,966,376 thus has been authorized—or almost $8,000,000 a day.

Accustomed as they are to astronomical figures when thinking of federal finances, Americans may be excused if they pause when they realize this huge amount has been appropriated for what is termed national defense. Also, they may be forgiven for wondering whether so much money could be used exclusively—and wisely—for defense purposes. If they give way to the suspicion that the United States fears an aggressor, they might go on to ask—whom does this country fear? Whom are we preparing to fight?

Obeying Orders.

Taking the witness stand against his counsel's advice, Dayton Dean, Black Legion gunman, testified in preliminary hearing that he shot Charles A. Poole because he was ordered to do so by "Colonel" Harvey Davis. Dean also testified that the murder was the outcome of a meeting of the secret society at which it was decided that Poole must forever be stopped from doing what gossip described as "ill treating his wife." The "executioners" were chosen and Dean unhesitatingly went about his gruesome task.

Since news of the Black Legion exposure first flashed into the headlines, public indignation has mounted. In face of Dean's testimony, some indignation may give way to wonderment over the mental quirks of a man who accepted without question the cult's command to kill.

It will be conceded that fanatical breeds fanaticism, but after the concession has been made wonderment still will remain. It will be wonderment tinged with apprehension lest the Dean type of mind be represented as typical of American mentalities. Apprehension will be sharpened as it is recalled that such fanatical obedience has characterized many defeated European peoples who have responded to the crack of a dictator's whip.

Fortunately, the inquiry is likely to show that the Black Legion is just another organized minority. Such groups, motivated by a ghastly mixture of snailism and puritanism, not infrequently have blackened the pages of American history. Happily, there is reason to believe they are the psychotic exceptions that prove the general sanity of the American people.

Nothing So Uninteresting.

As John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president, rattles his battle armor—letting fling pleasantly in a well filled war chest—he gives the impression that he is going places. In fact, some persons catch the impression that he is going to travel even if he has to say "William Green be damned" in the process. Repeatedly in the last year or so Mr. Lewis has made news in his efforts to lead workers to unionization. Frequently, in the course of his drive, he has stepped on Mr. Green's toes and flung harsh words of defiance at the American Federation of Labor president. Only last week he admitted he was at all disturbed by the threat of the present A. F. of L. executive council to excommunicate the unions espousing the cause of industrial organization.

Thursday night he added another notch to his gun. After eight months of indecision, the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers voted to go along with Mr. Lewis' industrial unionizing campaign, as opposed to the A. F. of L. official belief in craft organizations. Asked what action he thought the federation's executive council might take, Mr. Lewis replied: "I can think of nothing so uninteresting tonight as Mr. Green's platitudes and generalities."

The battle isn't over yet. But as the troops pause to reload the guns, most observers will concede that Mr. Lewis doesn't mind sticking his own head above the trenches. It remains to be seen who, eventually, is going to get whom.

Stop, Look, Listen.

For many political observers have been feeling out opinion here and there and commenting they didn't see how Gov. Landon could be kept from the Republican nomination. There has been a significant agreement of the probability of the Kansas governor's election.

Some of the same observers have gone to Cleveland, looked around and come up with the observation, "It still looks like Landon." Naturally, a good deal is heard about "stopping Landon," but that was to be expected. Stopping the leading candidate in the usual activity, in this stage of political preparation.

One thing is humorously obvious about "stopping Landon," though the activity itself is of course, gravely momentous. That is the composition of the stoppers. Among them, for instance, is Sen. Borah, who charges Gov. Landon is too sympathetic with the new deal to be suitable as a Republican candidate. Among them also, are some liberals equally certain that the governor is a right-hand brother of the old guard.

All these things might be worked out clearly by a logician. It happens, however, that logicians are rare. To the ordinary observer it will seem that Landon, if he is opposed by Sen. Borah, who supposedly is a liberal, shouldn't be opposed by the old guard, which supposedly is the opposite of whatever Sen. Borah is. It will seem, also, that something is going to have to be substituted for "old guard" as an opprobrious phrase for the simple reason that the old guard rapidly are becoming exploded bogies. At least they don't seem to be having much success maintaining their prestige as the G. O. P. circus goes under way in Cleveland.

"Stop Landon" probably will be the most common phrase of the next few days. Until it can be explained how Landon can be stopped and kept moving at the same time by the same people, it will have to be assumed that "Stop Look and Listen" comes closer to conveying the real idea behind it all. Naturally, Republicans want to know more about the man who seems destined to get their party's presidential nomination. They are being careful, not balking.

Gwine or Comin'?

Announcement that "Oh, Suzanne" is to be the official song of the Landon delegation at the Cleveland convention is bound to provoke controversy and questioning. Why, some capricious critics are certain to ask, does a Kansan have to go to Alabama or Louisiana to pick music that will stir the old campaign blood? Why, some other querulous questioners will want to know, do rock-ribbed Republicans have to stink a song that praises the Democratic southern states?

What is more, there is sure to be argument about the correct words. One newspaper version already has had Suzanne's lover "gwine to Alabama." Some persons around these parts insisted that Suzanne's serenader was going to Louisiana. One person even thought that Oregon might have been his destination. Indisputably, musical authorities have shown that in Stephen Foster's original version the amorous minded songster was going from Alabama to see his lover in Louisiana.

The controversy will continue to rage unless the conventioners fall into that jolly mood in which party and sectional differences are forgotten. Then, perhaps, somebody might be inspired to write a campaign song that tells of the hero going from Kansas to Washington, D. C.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, June 8, 1926.
Smith W. Hootchman won the Republican nomination for United States senator in Iowa, defeating Senator Albert Cummins.
Employees of the second floor of the Warner & Edwards Co. were hostesses at a dinner given at Homestead Inn near Delaware for Miss Margaret Kelly, whose marriage to William George of New York City was to take place soon.

Harry McFarland, student at the University of St. Louis, arrived to spend the summer with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McFarland of East Chicago street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Holzerstott of Mt. Vernon avenue and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Thibault of South State street returned from a motor trip to Charleston, W. Va., and points in southern Ohio.

Mrs. Clara Norton, 60, of South Grand avenue, died at the City hospital.

Joseph Gore, 72, died at his home on Silver street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, June 8, 1916.
Advocates of woman suffrage won their fight in preliminary proceedings at the national G. O. P. convention in Chicago when the resolutions committee voted to include a plank in the platform in favor of votes for women.

Miss Marie Jean Johnson of LaRue and Lowell W. Dille of Marion were united in marriage by Rev. D. N. Kelly at the Wesley M. E. parsonage.

Miss Bessie Doney was hostess to the Beta Gamma club at her home on Mary street.

The Silver Star Croquet club was entertained by Mrs. Lewis Bechtel at her home on Chicago avenue.

Miss Hazel Olin Lenon and Henry H. Grimes, both of Marion, were united in marriage by Rev. H. H. Holzerstott.

Filing time for the fall primary in Marion county expired with contests for only a few offices. Among the major contests: those for the sheriff's nominations stood out prominently. Candidates for the Republican nomination were Henry A. Findling, LeRoy Owens and H. J. Thompson and for the Democratic nomination Frank P. Beck, John Edmuth, J. A. Reed, William Roller, Sanford T. Smith and James F. Ulom.

Platform Builders for G. O. P. Busy

Amateurs and Professionals Both at Work With Occasionally a Plank That Touches a Basic Principle.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

COPYRIGHT, 1936, BY THE MARION STAR
WASHINGTON, June 8.—Amateur and professional platform writers are busily engaged in exchanging drafts of proposed platforms as the delegations gather en route to the Republican national convention at Cleveland.

Some of the drafts bear the earmarks of considerable work on the part of advisers more or less influential in the Republican party. When the resolutions committee is finally convened, however, the members will have to make up their minds as to the strategy of the platform, whether it will be a set of principles or a set of denunciations.

Some of the proposed platforms are a curious hodge-podge of invective and exhortation. The amateurs have some good ideas but the professionals will have to rewrite them into "platform English."

There are aspects of these proposed platforms which touch fundamentals. Hidden away in a phrase here and there is a whole campaign issue. Thus, one of the drafts which is said to be favorably considered by the Republican high command insists that reciprocity treaties shall be made only with legislative approval.

This means a return to log-rolling and old-fashioned Republican tariff methods. Actually, the Republicans who are insisting on legislative approval are reversing the position taken under the Coolidge and Hoover administrations, when through the flexible tariff provisions the executive was authorized to proclaim tariff rates with foreign countries without getting further approval from the legislative body.

More important, however, than the Republican precedent for delegating the tariff task, within limits, to an executive department is the fact that foreign countries take advantage of the United States because of this very provision requiring legislative approval.

Foreign governments, knowing of congressional hesitancy to remove tariff laws because of the log-rolling, and knowing too that the congress is not in session many months of the year, suddenly proclaim a new tariff duty and the American government is powerless to meet the situation if legislative approval is required. It seems incredible that the Republicans would be so far out of step with the world situation as to insist on legislative approval of reciprocity agreements when all the other governments of the world have established flexibility through delegation of the tariff making and rate adjusting power to an executive agency instead of the legislative.

There are, of course, many Republicans who quarrel with the method by which the trade agreements have been negotiated by the department of state. Criticism is heard, for instance, on the ground that producers are not notified in advance and that they get their information more quickly through foreign government channels than they do through the own government here. Whatever there is to this argument, and undoubtedly any system of negotiation is unfair when one party leaks, the fact remains that improvements in the method of negotiation are desirable if they do not defeat the purpose and undesirable if they mean an opportunity for special interests to defeat the trade agreement through log-rolling on Capitol Hill.

The old method was secrecy in the ways and means committee of the house, and only the special interests that maintained good "pipelines" to the committee knew in advance and could prepare their lobbyists for particular rates, whereas the producers who could not afford to do so were usually left out in the cold. The new method whereby the department of state announces that a trade agreement with a certain country is to be negotiated puts the industries or businesses affected on notice that all trade relationships with that country are up for consideration and that battle will be received.

Under the system in vogue at the tariff commission during Republican administrations, the matter ended when hearings were closed. As matters stand now, in the negotiation of reciprocity agreements, the interested producers may send in information and keep in touch with the department of state's interdepartmental committee up to the last stages of the negotiation of an agreement.

The tariff plank is going to be a difficult one to write if the unconquered isolationists have their way. There are Republicans who march up the hill every year with the same song and forget that there are any other groups or sections of the country who could be enlisted under the party banner.

The Republican national convention is going to have a lot of discussion on platform and debate on the floor and it seems probable that a cut-and-dried restatement of Republican doctrine is not going to attract independents or anti-new deal Democrats in the electorate. Judging by some of the platforms, such as that offered by the group of New York Republican clubs, there is a recognition this year that things are to be different. It remains to be seen, however, how much influence these progressive and realistic forces inside the Republican party are going to have on the final platform that emerges from the Cleveland convention.

Behind the News

Spotlight Turned on Cleveland G. O. P. Convention.

BY PAUL MALLON

CLEVELAND, O., June 8.—The advance status of the Republican convention is somewhat like that of the beauty contest in which the judges have already winked at the favorite.

The other entrants know that handsome Alf is going to get the prize, but nothing can make them like it. In fact, they are getting just a little caty on the side. They would not say a word against him openly for the world. They know that if they do, and he wins, they are apt to become political wallflowers for the period of his candidacy.

But just amongst us delegates, they are not above making a few side remarks. For example, a certain eminent midwest leader has rushed forth with a platform denial that he was in the "stop Landon" movement. While he was thus denying with gusto, his best pals were privately circulating among the delegates a typewritten pamphlet of four pages which stated that Landon has false hair and possibly a wooden leg. Specifically, it quoted William Allen White as saying that the Kansas governor had "followed me in and out of the Republican party four times," and concluded that Landon's Republicanism was a thin veneer.

Dig

Coy scoffs also circulated among the arriving delegates "the real reason" why Senator Vandenberg declined to run with Landon. This hand-made rumor was to the effect that Mr. Vandenberg considers himself the better man, that his mind is fixed on heading a really important ticket in 1940, or possibly in 1936. And just to add the final democratic touch to the Republican gathering, a chime marched through the streets with anonymous handbills, headed "So he won't talk, eh?"

The handbills also quoted the White line but added much more to the general effect that handbill measure had to be taken to offset the pro-Landon publicity in "the Landon controlled press."

Glamour

These things are all just as much a part of a political convention as the bands and bunting. They signify little more than the glamour of the occasion. Ordinarily a good rumor can run the rounds of 1,500 politicians and 700 news-men here within an hour. Ten minutes later they are older than yesterday's newspaper. So also with the anti-Landon clamor. They are much like the same class of material used against Hoover at Kansas City in 1925 and against Roosevelt at Chicago in 1932. Thirty days hence many of the circulated of the material will be out on the stump.

New York Notes

O. O. McIntyre's Diary of Fact, Fancy and Folks.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Diary My lady in a fearful paddy about my continued late rising. And I contrite. A wire from Betty Rogers inviting us to tarry awhile at the ranch and a lovely philosophical letter from Meredith Nicholson in Venezuela and a postcard from Bob and Midge Davis in Japan.

Out and on a cravat binge, one ash gray with diagonal stripes of royal purple as beautiful as ever I owned. So by Dean Corcoran's studio to see the murals he is painting for the Detroit Athletic club and to Katharine Brush's for the Charles Inghams.

Dinner en famille and Albert Keller sent a platter of favorite dishes, cream caramel, from the Ritz. Then to a cinema with Rudy Gibbons and to sit at a sidewalk table in East 52d, but so many wanting his autograph we had little chance to gab. To bed trying to struggle through the tedium of "Sparkenbroke."

Ayn Rand, the Russian girl, who came to America a few years ago, bewildered by the future of the revolution, continues to be one of the intellectual sensations. Her recent speech at Town Hall depicting the loss of individualism under Soviet rule was a high light of the season. Moreover she has proved that America is a land of opportunity. She arrived here with $50 and no knowledge of the language. She authored the successful Broadway play, "Night of January 16," has sold her first scenario to Hollywood and a book has been published, which Gouverneur Morris declares is the best first effort he ever read. Imagine her scoring such a success in Soviet Russia!

The Longchamps chain of restaurants continues to spread and takes the lead as the depression's commercial miracle. There are almost a dozen now, brightly done in a dazzle of modern angles. Their bars are the flashiest in town and their windows a geometrical display of perishable fruit. Each place subscribes to the no tipping ban by adding 10 per cent of the amount of the check. This has been tried time after time to no avail, but Longchamps made it click.

Personal nomination for the defunct character portrayals on the screen—Those of "Charlie Chan" by Warner Oland.

Every season someone "dis covers" after the fashion of Caruso, an off the beaten path restaurant where opera singers and music lovers may find the informality they enjoy. A current haunt is a place on 12th street called Asti's, where the proprietors, Adolph and Johnny, serve the meals and burst forth at the intervals into song. The orchestra is Blind Tom, a pianist, and when the violinists have been well circulated musically inclined diners offer a repertoire of arias.

I have raked the town many times to tap a red inkery that erupted the casual homophile of Lalo's, back of the Metropolitan in East 35th street. 20 years ago. There one really did see Caruso, with neck-tucked napkin, leading in song wit his spatchcocked fork as a baton. "Mine Lalo, in hor Briton sweater, chirped greetings from the tiny cashier's cage and her monocled son Gaston bowed customers to the 80-cent table d'hôte—vin compris. One wandered from table to table, palavered, exchanged cards and often salvaged enduring friendships. At a corner table, too, sat Blanchette, in the manner of the French coquette, seductive in a sweeping Gainsborough and black velvet princess gown with train. Blanchette was the first woman I ever saw rouge her lips and kohl her eyes in public.

Today—First Government Recognition Given Women.

Blum, new French Secretary of State, named women as undersecretaries in his new cabinet, the daughter of the late Madame Curie being one of the three. That never happens in France before.

Once things never happen in France before, not even a big revolution. One million are already sharing in it, threatening to be a violent upheaval strike.

The whole cabinet is led by Jacques Duclos, elected president of the chamber of deputies secretary of the Communist party. The plan of ultra-radical victory in the recent election according to the Universal Service is to put the French government in a Russian soviet base.

French peasants who got the land from the big revolution are largely from the church, and not quietly let any soviet seem make public property of the farms.

In that French soviet there is material for a French revolution. The revolution can happen. You might say it is called by French conservatism, in protest against the sovietism that Hitler has.

Go With Mr. Lewis

Officers of the "Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers," which has no real interest yet, but hopes to organize 500,000 steel workers, have decided to cast in their lot with Mr. Lewis of the coal miners against Mr. Green head of the American Federation of Labor.

With this decision, unionism in this country as regards steel workers seems to be split just up to the middle, and the pro-labor politician, willing to allow labor to run the government, exchange for its votes will know which way to jump. It cannot be for Mr. Lewis and for Mr. Green, and if you go on you will see the other. It is most enough to make you go to the old American plan.

Poor Distribution

There is much fuss over things that are "the matter with us," but nobody pays much attention to the most serious them, which is extravagantly perfect distribution.

A farmer raises a calf, feeds milk to it when it grows up, perhaps 2½ to 3 cents a quart of the milk. The city milkman, children pays not less than (usually 15) cents for that 3-milk.

Mr. Morgan, commissioner of markets in New York City after careful survey, reports that a farmer and shipper of farm products get, between their three cents of the consumer's dollar, 1 cent goes for distribution and 2 cents for transportation, leaving 1 cent. It is nobody's fault, the system—but it ought to be changed. Suppose the automatic maker got only 38 per cent of the car's retail cost; how much do you think a $700 car would cost?

Make One Thing

It was good advice that Voltaire gave the shoemaker who wrote the Voltaire on how to write poetry.

In return Voltaire wrote "M shoes, always shoes, nothing shoes." That meant "Do it to make verses." If you do nothing and stick at it and nothing else, that will take of you. The late Dr. Dorrance soup, always soup, nothing soup, and the state of New Jersey has just received from his fifteen million six hundred twenty thousand dollars as Jersey's tax on the Dorrance tune.

Be Careful with Money

Chicago ladies with money warned against Communists learned professors of economy ladies that have studied first Communists, the investing in are told, want to confiscate money or get it away from them somehow. Russian agents, trading signing propagandists here for purpose.

All true as gospel doubtless some American women ran that you need not go as far as to find gentlemen over that it is a virtuous act to money away from women.

Insurance companies tell that the woman provided with her husband's insurance will er to use the money as she likes is usually penniless in less than years.

Any financial institution a list of five hundred the American corporations of the securities are no longer a penny. Many dollars from a lean woman went into that hundred thousand traps for foolish.

CIVIC CONCERT WELL ATTENDED

Symphony Orchestra Presents Program at Chautauqua Pavilion.

The main part of the Chautauqua pavilion in Garfield park was filled with adult music lovers and children of the schools for the civic concert given by the Marion Civic orchestra yesterday afternoon.

The first concert to be given free to the public since the orchestra's organization two years ago, the occasion was heralded as a step forward in the civic and cultural progress of the city by W. C. Brown, secretary of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, who gave an informal talk during the intermission.

Mr. Brown complimented the orchestra highly on its work and for the generous gesture in giving the concert. The numbers were enthusiastically received by the audience and as a result of the general appreciation of the audience the public concert may be made an annual affair, the sponsor stated today.

The orchestra and the director, Abram Ruvinsky of Columbus, contributed their services. The program, which was announced by L. G. Jones, music supervisor in the city schools, included several of the most popular numbers played by the orchestra during the season just closed. Mr. Jones also presented the program notes providing a background for the numbers.

THREE AUTOS IN TRAFFIC MISHAP

Three cars were damaged in a traffic accident yesterday about 1 p. m. on South State street near the Y. M. C. A. Cars driven by E. W. Fox of 1003 East Center street and E. E. Hodges of 182 Lincoln avenue, collided as the latter drove from a parking place on the west side of the street, police said. The impact swerved Fox's car, which was traveling south, into a parked automobile owned by Fred Sims of 198 Leader street.

BUSINESS BLOCK ON N. MAIN ST. SOLD

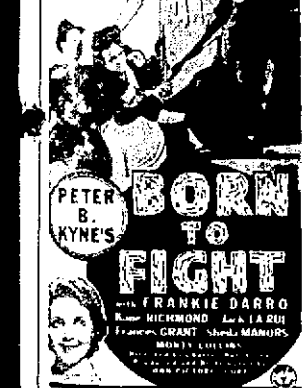

L. D. Brady of Marion has purchased a business building at 155 North Main street, from the Henry Ackerman estate. Pat Dwyer, real estate broker who negotiated the sale, announced today. The Marion Feed & Seed Co., now located at 187 North Main street, will move in the building in the near future, Mr. Dwyer said. The building is the former home of the Ackerman and Peadar bakeries.

"SHOW BOAT" ONE OF THOSE PICTURES YOU WON'T WANT TO MISS

Put down "Show Boat" at the Palace through Tuesday as one of the "be sure to see" pictures. It has everything and more besides.

The 1936 version of Edna Ferber's famous novel is outstanding entertainment and it's a family picture. Lovely Irene Dunne, the star, plays the romantic singing role of "Magnolia" to Allan Jones' dashing "Gaylord Ravenal". Topping the supporting cast are Charles Winninger, as "Cap'n Andy Hawks", Helen Morgan as "Julie", and Paul Robeson as "Joe", all playing the roles in which they appeared in the original stage production, and Helen Westley as the stern and virtuous "Parthy", wife of the showboat captain and mother of "Magnolia". Donald Cook, Sammy White, Queenie Smith and Hattie McDaniel are in featured minor roles. The story of "Show Boat" is by now known to most theatergoers. The lovely "Magnolia" falls in love with and marries the handsome gambler "Ravenal" against her mother's wishes. They are gloriously happy for a time, going from city to city, sometimes wealthy, some of the time in dire financial circumstances. In one of the periods of financial depression "Ravenal" deserts his wife and daughter, and "Magnolia" begins the stage career that leads to international acclaim and finally to retirement in wealth. The grownup daughter, played by Sunnee O'Dea, follows in her mother's footsteps. On the night of the family's greatest success, the wife and her long-separated husband are reunited.

Jerome Kern's music and Oscar Hammerstein's lyrics are a beautiful musical accompaniment, but the high spot of the musical part of the show is the world-famed Negro ballad, "Swanee River". It's a revelation to see the dignified Miss Dunne singing boyish in blackface and doing an excellent rendition of the cakewalk. Miss Morgan sings two of her famous numbers, "Billie" and "Can't Help Lovin' That Man".

An excellent color cartoon, "The Mill Pond," a novel short of special interest to golfers, a high-grade musical short and a newsworld are on the program.

MARYSVILLE HAS BUILDING PROGRAM

Special to The Star
MARYSVILLE, June 7.—The business section of this city is undergoing decided improvements which will add greatly to its appearance. The new Elks lodge quarters in the Union block building are rapidly nearing completion. The two-story brick building recently acquired by the new Eagle society is undergoing remodeling. Two new business enterprises, one a national auto accessory store, the other a new automobile agency, have opened for business, and workmen are making rapid progress toward the completion of a modern movie theater.

The money which has been going for prizes will be pro rated back to the exhibitors through the organization to which they belong, such as vocational agriculture departments, home economics departments, junior granges, 4-H clubs and others.

RELIEF COSTS DROP IN CRAWFORD CO.

Hiring of Employables by Private Industry and WPA Given as Reasons.

Special to The Star
BUCYRUS, June 5.—Expenditures for relief in Crawford county as shown by the May report of Fred Hixala, relief director, show a decided drop as compared with expenditures for March and April.

Last month's expenditures of $3,463.06, were $1,000.16 less than relief costs in April and $2,485 less than in March, the report shows.

Hiring of employables by private industry, the National Youth administration and WPA employment is responsible for the reduction, Hixala stated.

Director Hixala has also announced a public meeting at the court house Wednesday night when the establishment of a recreational program as a WPA project will be discussed by Miss Violet Curlee of Mansfield, who has called the meeting.

TICKETS TO G. O. P. CONVENTION SCARCE

Special to The Star
MT. GILEAD, June 5.—Tickets for the Republican national convention are scarce in Morrow county. So far only three men, Earl Griffith, Republican candidate for secretary of state, R. C. Turner, chairman of the Republican county executive committee, and L. V. Ault have received tickets.

Another Morrow county man, Paul Bruller, Glend township trustee, will attend the convention, serving as a sergeant-at-arms.

It was reported here this week that only five tickets were allotted the congressional district, the eighth, outside the delegates.
